Disability Inclusion & Representation

ABOUT EASTERSEALS

Easterseals is leading the way to full equity, inclusion, and access through life-changing disability and community services.

For more than 100 years, we have worked tirelessly with our partners to enhance quality of life and expand local access to healthcare, education, and employment opportunities. And we won't rest until every one of us is valued, respected, and accepted.

Through our national network of Affiliates, Easterseals provides essential services and on-the-ground supports to more than 1.5 million people each year – from early childhood programs for the critical first five years, to autism services, to medical rehabilitation and employment programs, to veterans' services, and more. Our public education, policy, and advocacy initiatives positively shape perceptions and address the urgent and evolving needs of the one in four Americans living with disabilities today.

Together, we're empowering people with disabilities, families, and communities to be full and equal participants in society.

Dear Public Service Director,

Easterseals is leading the way to full equity, inclusion, and access to education, employment, and healthcare for people with disabilities and their families. Disability inclusion and representation is critical across our communities as one in four people today are living with disability.

The disability community is the largest minority group, numbering some 61 million people of all races, ethnicities, gender identity, sexual orientation, ages and religions, and is a community many of us will join at some point in our lives. And yet, people with disabilities face deeply rooted, outdated stigmas and misperceptions across all aspects of society. It's imperative to grow awareness and understanding of the disabled community and to amplify their voices as full participants in our community.

As America's largest nonprofit health care organization since its founding in 1919, Easterseals is committed to the comprehensive health and wellness of the more than 1.5 million people it serves each year, ensuring that the needs of children and adults with disabilities, veterans and older adults are met with services and supports to help them live, learn, work and play in their communities.

We hope you will help inform your audiences about the importance of disability inclusion and representation by airing our latest PSAs titled "That's My Easterseals, Make It Yours" (:30). These PSAs feature actors and disability advocates Sofiya Cheyenne and Jamie Brewer, who both share how Easterseals has had a life-changing impact on their own lives and how Easterseals services continue to positively impact people's lives every day. The PSAs, which encourage audiences to visit Easterseals.com for more information, also demonstrate how much people with disabilities have to offer our communities. We hope you will air these PSAs, which have no end date for use, as soon and as often as possible.

As we continue to serve millions of people across the country, we need the support of stations like yours to deliver these timely and important messages to help change perceptions about people with disabilities – about what they offer our communities, as dedicated employees, colleagues, students, friends and neighbors -- and advance true inclusion.

If you have any questions regarding these PSAs, please contact our distribution representative, Shaliza Thomas at Connect360 Multimedia (stthomas@c360m.com; 212-624-9187).
