About American Cancer Society

The American Cancer Society (ACS) is the leading cancer-fighting organization with a vision of ending cancer as we know it, for everyone. We are the only organization working to improve the lives of people with cancer and their families through advocacy, research, and patient support, to ensure everyone has an opportunity to prevent, detect, treat, and survive cancer.

Some cancers can be found early, before they have had a chance to grow and spread. Screening tests are used to find cancer in people before they develop symptoms. Screening increases the chances of detecting certain cancers early, when they are most likely to be curable.

Dear Public Service Director,

Early detection of cancer through screening reduces mortality from cancers of the colon and rectum, breast, uterine cervix, and lung. Cancer mortality has declined in recent decades in part due to progress in cancer screening technologies, awareness, research, and the general population's improved uptake in screening services. Yet, far too many individuals for whom screening is recommended remain unscreened.

At the onset of the pandemic, elective medical procedures, including cancer screening, were largely put on hold to prioritize urgent needs and reduce the risk of the spread of COVID-19 in health care settings. While we've made progress in increasing screening rates following the pandemic, rates continue to be low, especially in populations that face barriers to screening. Screening rates also vary by the type of cancer. Currently, approximately 13% of people eligible for lung cancer screening are up to date with lung cancer screening recommendations, 69% of those eligible for colorectal cancer screening are current, 73% of those eligible for cervical cancer screening are current, and 76% of those eligible for breast cancer screening are current.

We hope that you will help educate your audience about the importance of getting recommended cancer screening by airing the American Cancer Society's PSA titled "I Love You, Get Screened" (:60, :30, :15). The PSA highlights relationships of love and calls on everyone to tell those you love to get screened for cancer and visit cancer.org/getscreened to learn more. We hope you will help us share this life-saving message with your viewers by airing this PSA, which has no end date for use, as soon and as often as possible.

NARRATOR V/O: I love you. I love the sweet potato pie you bring to every family reunion. I love how you're my morning alarm, even when I ask for five more minutes.
